

NKC Supply Update 5/29/24

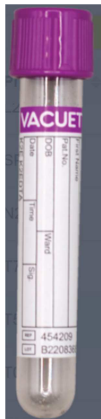

Spoke with Chris on 5/28/24, below items were addressed as follows:

These Items are still to arrive at Distribution Center. There is a workaround for each one until Distribution is able to deliver.

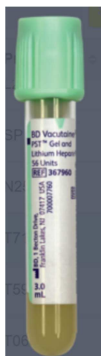

White Tubes are equivalent to Ascends used for PD fluid

Lavendar Tubes are equivalent to Ascends used for hematology and PTH

Post Green Tubes are equivalent to Ascends pre tube (the Ascend tube is just a little bigger). These were on backorder, but Quest has assured us they have secured all the supply needed for NKC. There is also a backup of being able to use the yellow tube, it just has to sit to clot.

24-hour urine jugs were ordered in a quantity of 150 due to having several in house at NKC. We have released a second order of these to be sent. There should be plenty to cover the needs for the month of June. NKC had to purchase these (Ascend did not supply) these can be used up and NKC can order as many as they like from Quest moving forward.

We also ordered some additional specimen cups to go with this even though I did see plenty on site.

